Instruction for use:

Please read all of the instructions before use. Use as directed by your clinician. Always follow facility protocol for skin care.

1. Position the torticollis brace on the patient's shoulder on the side toward which his/her head is leaning. If it does not fit comfortably, ask your health professional to make necessary adjustments. There should only be mild stretch - never overstretch the head/neck.
2. Adjust the black strap with the rectangular buckles on each end to achieve the correct angle to seat the brace on the patient's shoulder by pulling it off, then re-hooking it onto the blue material at the appropriate place.
3. Take the black strap down across the patient's back and bring it forward under the arm opposite from the brace.
4. Slide the tubular padding to the appropriate place under the patient's underarm.

5. Bring the strap up and across the chest, slide it through the rectangular buckle and attach it back onto itself. Adjust the front and back of this strap until it is centered and the fit is comfortable. Ensure the strap does not put any undue pressure on the patient's chin or neck.
6. Run two fingers under all areas of skin in contact with the torticollis brace to make sure it is not too tight.
7. As the neck posture improves, contact your health professional to determine if and when the brace might need to be re-adjusted to continue improvement.
8. If the patient's head keeps falling forward out of the brace, contact your health professional or the manufacturer for assistance.
